

Gaelic Nova Scotia Month 2024

Gaelic is the language of Gaels. All elements of Gaelic culture, history, and society are informed by the language. As an early settler language, Scottish Gaelic has deep roots in Nova Scotia and was once spoken by tens of thousands of people. One-third of Nova Scotians have Gaelic heritage, and thousands are reclaiming their language and culture today. And, you don't have to have Gaelic heritage to learn and be part of the Gaelic community. Many in Nova Scotia and beyond are learning this vibrant, poetic, musical, and communal language. All are welcome!

The Planning Committee for Mìos nan Gàidheal wants to encourage overall engagement with Gaelic culture in May 2024. We invite you or your organization to advise if you are planning an in-person or online event so that we can help to advertise it as an official event. Some areas of focus might be:

- A lecture or lecture series on Gaelic language;
- Gaelic conversation groups;
- Gaelic storytelling, storytelling tutorials, or lectures on Gaelic storytelling;
- Panels or discussions on Gaelic language, history, and culture;
- Gaelic language connection to music and dance;
- Sharing information on Gaelic traditions and customs;
- Outdoor activities through the medium of Gaelic; or,
- An online event to connect to geographically distant Gaelic communities.

Gaelic Nova Scotia Month 2024

To have information included in the official public calendar of Gaelic Nova Scotia Month 2024, please provide the following information to comhairlenagaidhlig@gmail.com by April 15th, 2024.

Title of Event:
Date(s):		Time:
Location:
Brief Description: (Format, presenters, entertainment, etc.)
Event Sponsors: (List all if applicable)
Event Contacts: (Please provide two, if possible)	Name:	Phone:	Email:
	Name:	Phone:	Email:
Organization's Mailing Address:
Other Information: (Please include any other relevant details not mentioned above)			